TO RETIRE IN FAVOR OF CARRANZA

Carbajal Does Not Want Presidency.

ASKS GENERAL AMNESTY

New Executive Also Desires Property Protected.

Washington, July 17.—Francisco Carbajal, successor to General Huerta as provisional president of Mexico, advised the United States government informally that he intends to retire in favor of General Carranza, the Constitutionalist chief.

Mr. Carbajal wishes only that a general amnesty be proclaimed and protection given to the property of those who opposed the Constitutionalists.

This statement of the attitude of Huerta's successor, together with the announcement from Monterey that Carranza is willing to enter into negotiations with Carbajal relative to the transfer of authority at Mexico City, is regarded here as practically assuring a cessation of hostilities and the restoring of peace in Mexico.

The views of Mr. Carbajal were expressed in detail to Secretary Bryan by Jose Castellot, former member of the Mexican senate, who called at the state department with a personal telegram which he had received through the Mexican embassy.

First Note From Carbajal.

It was the first communication between the American government and the Carbajal administration.

The communication addressed to Mr. Castellot, a personal friend of the new president, is as follows:

"I have just taken the oath of office as president of the republic. Generals Huerta and Blanquet departed for Europe. I desire to make it known with emphasis that my only purpose is to facilitate a solution of the grave problems which weigh upon our country. I have not the slightest ambition for myself, and merely wish to terminate the internal conflict of our country. Please give me your impression of the situation in Washington."

This message, Mr. Castellot explained, meant that Mr. Carbajal had taken office only as a means of bridging the gap from the Huerta regime to the Constitutionalists and that the new president had no desire to remain in office.

Bryan Thanks Castellot.

Secretary Bryan thanked Mr. Castellot for the information he brought and told him that, while recognition would not be accorded Carbajal, the United States was amicably disposed toward him and would applaud his patriotic efforts to bring about peace in his country. Mr. Castellot telegraphed the result of his conference to Mr. Carbajal.

Secretary Bryan himself was highly optimistic in the belief that peace at last was in sight in turbulent Mexico and he told his friends he believed the policy of "watchful waiting" and patience had been a success.

In order to assure a transfer of authority without further bloodshed or disturbance, however, the American government began to use its good offices with General Carranza.

John R. Silliman, formerly American consul at Saltillo and now personal representative of President Wilson there, received a long message from the state department instructing him to urge upon General Carranza the belief of the United States that further fighting was useless on account of the readiness of the Carbajal government to surrender its power.

Carranza was urged also to give guarantees for the protection of the lives and property of those who had supported Huerta. Mr. Silliman counseled likewise against the execution of prisoners or any other atrocities which the spirit of revenge might arouse in a conquering army.

The United States likewise made its position clear with respect to recognition. Under the terms of a protocol signed at Niagara Falls recognition will be extended to the government resulting from an agreement between the two Mexican factions.

Should Carranza consummate an agreement with the commission of three Constitutionalist sympathizers sent from Mexico City by Mr. Carbajal to discuss peace with him the terms of the Niagara Falls protocols will have been fulfilled.

Before satisfactory arrangements can be made with General Carranza, however, for the transfer of power at Mexico City many observers here see breakers ahead. That a general amnesty proclamation will be withheld by Carranza is the confident belief of Rafael Zubaran, head of the Constitutionalist agency here.

Mr. Zubaran said many of those who turned against Madero should be tried in the Mexican courts and punished.

In this way, he thinks, malcontents who might start a counter revolution would be swept aside.

CARRANZA NAMES HIS CONDITIONS

Says Enemies Must Surrender Unconditionally.

IS WILLING TO NEGOTIATE

Rebel Commander Asserts His Main Object Now Is to Arrange for Constitutionalists to Enter Mexico City and Establish Their Government Without Further Bloodshed.

Monterey, Mex., July 17.—Fighting by Constitutionalists is over in Mexico, if plans announced here by Venustiano Carranza go into effect. General Carranza declared his main object now would be to conduct negotiations for the Constitutionalists to enter Mexico City and establish their government without further bloodshed or damage to property.

General Carranza was unable to say whether these negotiations would be conducted through the A. B. C. mediators or direct with the federals. Unconditional surrender, however, will be the only condition on which these negotiations will be successful.

General Carranza made that plain to newspaper men who talked with him. He declared that the "reforms for which the Constitutionalists fought must be obtained at whatever cost."

"The resignation of Huerta and the substitution of Carbajal in itself will not cause the Constitutionalists to compromise, on a single point, the principles upon which the movement was founded," he continued.

"If the government machinery through which those ends may be obtained is not surrendered voluntarily by the party of Huerta it will be obtained by force."

Because of the effort to make the installation a peaceful one General Carranza said he expected it probably would be a month before he entered Mexico City.

He stated that he did not believe Carbajal was strong enough to handle effectively the reins of power passed over to him by Huerta.

Court of Inquiry Investigates Charges Against American Writer.

Washington, July 17.—Rear Admiral Badger reported that sensational news dispatches sent from Vera Cruz by Fred L. Boalt, an American writer, charging that "the law of flight" had been applied to Mexican prisoners by an American naval officer, had been found without foundation by a court of inquiry.

Secretary Daniels directed the investigation, while Secretary Garrison's order for the cancellation of Boalt's correspondent's credentials and his deportation was held in abeyance.

TRAIN MOVING LEISURELY

Former President Huerta Bound for Puerto Mexico.

Puerto Mexico, July 17.—His family and others dear to him already out of the zone of possible danger former President Huerta is moving toward this port in a special train. The train is moving leisurely, making a number of stops.

No one here knows just where and how and when Huerta will say goodby, but the majority believe that his departure will be as unostentatious as he can make it.

THREE PEOPLE KILLED AND FORTY INJURED.

Norfolk, Va., July 17.—Three persons are reported to have been killed and forty injured when a trolley car pulling two trailers collided with a Virginia freight train at a crossing about three miles from Norfolk.

Two referees will be selected. They will select a third. These men, at a stipend of $15 a day, will conduct the recount.

The court order gives Mr. Rines five days in which to file an amended complaint and Mr. Preus will have five days in which to answer.

The recount will begin about Aug. 1.

CUT NORTH DAKOTA OATS

First Crop of Season Is Harvested in Cass County.

Fargo, N. D., July 17.—An unusual harvesting record was established in Cass county when the first oats of the season were cut on the Martin Hector farm, north of Fargo.

In spite of the early season oats in other sections of the country appear ready for cutting. The stand is good, the heads well filled and a large crop is assured. Rye also is being cut throughout the state.

TRADE COMMISSION BILL UNDER FIRE

Senator Brandegee Attacks Proposed Legislation.

Washington, July 17.—Another effort was made by the senate judiciary committee to perfect the Clayton anti-trust bill and some progress was reported when the session ended. It now is hoped to have the measure ready early next week.

While the committee was at work on the Clayton bill the interstate trade commission bill was again under discussion in the senate.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota insisted that the term "unfair competition" is improper and that the proper phrase to use is "the stifling of competition by unfair methods." Senator Williams agreed with him.

Senator Sterling of South Dakota said the term "unfair competition" is grossly indefinite and certain to unsettle business just at a time when the business world has learned the meaning by the court interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

He proposed an amendment conferring upon the courts the power to enforce or to suspend the orders of the commission.

Senator Brandegee bitterly attacked the proposed legislation as "half-baked," and said the country was afraid to attempt to find out anything about it.

MARRIAGE LICENSES FEW

North Dakotans Evade Eugenic Law by Entering Minnesota.

Fargo, N. D., July 17.—One effect of North Dakota's eugenic marriage law is manifest in the fact that the number of licenses issued in Cass county within the last month has dropped more than 66 per cent under the number for the corresponding period last year. About 60 per cent of all licenses issued in Moorhead, Minn., across the state line, are procured by North Dakotans.

NO VACATION FOR TIRED SENATORS

BUSINESS NOT INTERRUPTED

President Irritated When Senate Delays or Refuses to Confirm His Appointments—Congressmen Heflin and Humphrey Say "Complimentary" Things About Each Other.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 17.—[Special.]—Congress may stay—or a part of it while the others go home and seek reelection—but the executive departments will take their vacations as usual.

The president will not take much time off, a little trip on the Mayflower, a little golf in the afternoons when he is here, being his recreation. But the cabinet officers will go to their summer homes and spend one or two months away from Washington. Assistant cabinet officers and bureau chiefs, or at least many of them, will go away under "orders" to investigate something in their different departments. Going under orders means that their expenses will be paid. All the clerks will get thirty days' leave, which they will take as they can be spared.

And the business of the government will go on without interruption. It would go on if congress should adjourn.

Irritates the President.

The president does not like to have his appointments criticised. He resents the attitude of the senate in making inquiries about men he has selected. Every president regards the power of confirmation by the senate as sort of perfunctory and that the man making the appointment assumes the responsibility, and his selections should not be questioned. Other presidents have felt the same in regard to the senate's attitude upon their appointees.

Borah Very Active.

From the time it was admitted back in 1890 there has been regret among senators and oftentimes in the White House that Idaho was allowed to slip into the Union. First there was Fred Dubois, who made trouble frequently. Then came Heyburn, who was in eruption nearly all the time. And we now have Borah, who constantly keeps things stirred up. It has been characteristic of these Idaho senators that they have been absolutely fearless and independent, swayed neither by fear or favor, and as a consequence they make themselves felt. Borah has been especially active lately and creates a stir in the senate quite frequently.

Passing Compliments.

"When gentlemen meet compliments pass," remarked a character in fiction. Every member of the house is called a gentleman when spoken of by another member, consequently the following "compliments" passed between Congressman Heflin of Alabama and Congressman Humphrey of Washington. This from Heflin:

"The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Humphrey, this prophet of evil and chairman of the committee on distress, this self constituted mouthpiece of calamity howlers and forerunners of business destruction, seems to enjoy his obnoxious and disgusting office."

This rejoinder from Humphrey: "The gentleman from Alabama, Mr. Heflin, seemed to be considerably 'peeved' because I made some remarks about the psychological prosperity that was blessing the land. The sedate gentleman, noted for voice, vocabulary and voluptuous verbosity, made one of his characteristic speeches. It was riotous in adjectives, rich in redundancy, magnificent in its inflated pomposity and unmarred by a single thought."

It Was a Rainy Period.

"The streams provided for in this bill cannot become any drier during this weather," remarked Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who was protesting against postponing the trust bills to consider the river and harbor measure. He alluded to the often made jokes about necessity of drilling artesian wells and taking other measures to insure water in streams for which appropriations were made.

Natural History and Trusts.

Senator Lane of Oregon was discussing the trust question and pointed out how the trusts would take care of themselves no matter what legislation was passed. Then he compared them to a band of coyotes. "Did you ever see a band of coyotes competing for a jack rabbit?" he asked. "No; the coyotes have too much sense." Then he told how the coyotes would run a jack rabbit, keeping between him and his burrow, but keeping him going in relays until they got him, and the bunch would then share in the feast. He said the trusts would never compete, but would share in what they were able to take from the people.

Pompeiian Blue.

There is one corridor on the senate side of the capitol where the guides always take sightseers and tell them that it is the only place in the country where real, true Pompeiian blue can be seen. It is a part of the decoration and was painted on the walls more than half a century ago and still retains the same luster and shade.

CARPENTIER WINS ON FOUL

Gunboat Smith Loses Fight in Sixth Round.

London, July 17.—Georges Carpentier, the young French champion and the only pugilist of premier rank France ever contributed to the game, was awarded the decision over Gunboat Smith, the American fighter, on a foul in the sixth round of the fastest heavyweight fight Londoners have seen in many years.

The match was fought at Olympia and was scheduled to go twenty rounds. To Smith and his supporters the finish was a tragedy, because the blow for which the American was disqualified was neither studied nor intentional. It was launched in the heat of the whirlwind fighting, when the Frenchman had slipped to his knees, and the spectators saw the gaunt sailor recoil and attempt to draw back almost as his arm flew out.

DETECTIVE KILLED IN PISTOL BATTLE

Lively Shooting Affair in Chicago Vice District.

Chicago, July 17.—Stanley J. Bierns, a police sergeant in the detective bureau under Captain John Halpin, was shot to death in a revolver battle between two squads of police detectives in the vice district.

Detective John Sloop, Bierns' partner, and Joseph T. Merrill and Fred Amert, detectives under Major L. C. Funkhouser, deputy superintendent in charge of the morals squad, and a fireman named Carroll, were wounded. Sixty shots were fired.

Detectives Schubert and Carney of the Twenty-second street station broke up the riot and took Amert, whose wound was slight, to the station, where he is held.

North Dakota Grain Storage Men Hold Annual Meeting.

Grand Forks, N. D., July 17.—Resolutions condemning the grain storage laws of North Dakota on the ground that they compel the elevator manager to become a speculator were passed by members of the North Dakota Association of Elevator Companies.

Officers were elected as follows: President, J. H. S. Thompson, Valley City; vice president A. A. Lane, Sherwood; secretary N. R. Tacklind, Drayton.

A formal resolution declining the proposal of the state railway and warehouse commission for a uniform system of accounting for elevators of the state also was passed.

BRYAN APPROVES EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Secretary of State Will Aid Fight in Nebraska.

DECLARES WOMEN CAPABLE

Commoner Issues Statement Asserting He Would Ask No Political Right for Himself That He Was Not Willing to Grant His Wife—Believes Politics Will Not Suffer by Woman's Entrance.

Washington, July 17.—Secretary Bryan, in a formal statement issued, came out for woman suffrage.

He declared he would ask no political right for himself that he was not willing to grant his wife and announced his intention of supporting the proposed state constitutional amendment extending the franchise to women to be voted upon in Nebraska next November.

Woman, Mr. Bryan said, had proved herself equal to every responsibility imposed upon her and would not fail society in this emergency.

"The objections raised to woman suffrage appear to me to be invalid, while the arguments advanced in support of the proposition are, in my judgment, convincing," said the statement.

"The first objection which I remember to have heard was that as woman cannot bear arms she should not have a voice in deciding questions that might lead to war, or in enacting laws that might require an army for their enforcement. As we look back over the past we may well wonder whether the peace movement would not have grown more rapidly than it has had woman been consulted before hostilities began.

"If one were in doubt as to which side of the controversy to take he would be justified in giving weight to the fact that organization and enthusiasm are on the side of those who favor woman suffrage.

"I am not willing to stay the mother's hand if she thinks that by the use of suffrage she can safeguard the welfare of those who are dearer to her than her own life.

"Politics will not suffer by woman's entrance into it. If the political world has grown more pure in spite of the evil influences that have operated to debase it it will not be polluted by the presence and participation of woman. Neither should we doubt that woman can be trusted with the ballot."

ENGINEERS REJECT OFFER

Refuse to Submit Wage Question to Mediation.

Chicago, July 17.—The representatives of the enginemen of the Western railroads who have voted to strike unless their demands for wage increases are granted refused a request of the general managers' committee that the United States government be asked to mediate.

The enginemen also charged the committee with seeking to prolong the negotiations only to defeat the purpose of the employes. While no more conferences are being held numerous written communications were exchanged by the two committees.

The refusal to submit to mediation was the last letter and put the next move up to the managers.

CUT NORTH DAKOTA OATS

First Crop of Season Is Harvested in Cass County.

Fargo, N. D., July 17.—An unusual harvesting record was established in Cass county when the first oats of the season were cut on the Martin Hector farm, north of Fargo.

In spite of the early season oats in other sections of the country appear ready for cutting. The stand is good, the heads well filled and a large crop is assured. Rye also is being cut throughout the state.

TRADE COMMISSION BILL UNDER FIRE

Senator Brandegee Attacks Proposed Legislation.

Washington, July 17.—Another effort was made by the senate judiciary committee to perfect the Clayton anti-trust bill and some progress was reported when the session ended. It now is hoped to have the measure ready early next week.

While the committee was at work on the Clayton bill the interstate trade commission bill was again under discussion in the senate.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota insisted that the term "unfair competition" is improper and that the proper phrase to use is "the stifling of competition by unfair methods." Senator Williams agreed with him.

Senator Sterling of South Dakota said the term "unfair competition" is grossly indefinite and certain to unsettle business just at a time when the business world has learned the meaning by the court interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

He proposed an amendment conferring upon the courts the power to enforce or to suspend the orders of the commission.

Senator Brandegee bitterly attacked the proposed legislation as "half-baked," and said the country was afraid to attempt to find out anything about it.

M'ARTHUR NOT A CANDIDATE

Democrat Will Not Make Race Because of Federal Job.

Grand Forks, N. D., July 17.—D. H. McArthur, state chairman of the Democratic central committee of North Dakota, will not be a candidate for re-election.

Mr. McArthur, who holds the federal appointment of deputy collector of income tax, will not make the race for re-election because of such appointment, according to announcement.

Chairman McArthur has been the director of the destinies of the Democratic party during the last six years

MARRIAGE LICENSES FEW

Fargo, N. D., July 17.—One effect of North Dakota's eugenic marriage law is manifest in the fact that the number of licenses issued in Cass county within the last month has dropped more than 66 per cent under the number for the corresponding period last year. About 60 per cent of all licenses issued in Moorhead, Minn., across the state line, are procured by North Dakotans.

NO VACATION FOR TIRED SENATORS

BUSINESS NOT INTERRUPTED

President Irritated When Senate Delays or Refuses to Confirm His Appointments—Congressmen Heflin and Humphrey Say "Complimentary" Things About Each Other.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 17.—[Special.]—Congress may stay—or a part of it while the others go home and seek re-election—but the executive departments will take their vacations as usual.

The president will not take much time off, a little trip on the Mayflower, a little golf in the afternoons when he is here, being his recreation. But the cabinet officers will go to their summer homes and spend one or two months away from Washington. Assistant cabinet officers and bureau chiefs, or at least many of them, will go away under "orders" to investigate something in their different departments. Going under orders means that their expenses will be paid. All the clerks will get thirty days' leave, which they will take as they can be spared.

And the business of the government will go on without interruption. It would go on if congress should adjourn.

Irritates the President.

The president does not like to have his appointments criticised. He resents the attitude of the senate in making inquiries about men he has selected. Every president regards the power of confirmation by the senate as sort of perfunctory and that the man making the appointment assumes the responsibility, and his selections should not be questioned. Other presidents have felt the same in regard to the senate's attitude upon their appointees.

Borah Very Active.

From the time it was admitted back in 1890 there has been regret among senators and oftentimes in the White House that Idaho was allowed to slip into the Union. First there was Fred Dubois, who made trouble frequently. Then came Heyburn, who was in eruption nearly all the time. And we now have Borah, who constantly keeps things stirred up. It has been characteristic of these Idaho senators that they have been absolutely fearless and independent, swayed neither by fear or favor, and as a consequence they make themselves felt. Borah has been especially active lately and creates a stir in the senate quite frequently.

Passing Compliments.

"When gentlemen meet compliments pass," remarked a character in fiction. Every member of the house is called a gentleman when spoken of by another member, consequently the following "compliments" passed between Congressman Heflin of Alabama and Congressman Humphrey of Washington. This from Heflin:

"The gentleman from Washington, Mr. Humphrey, this prophet of evil and chairman of the committee on distress, this self constituted mouthpiece of calamity howlers and forerunners of business destruction, seems to enjoy his obnoxious and disgusting office."

This rejoinder from Humphrey: "The gentleman from Alabama, Mr. Heflin, seemed to be considerably 'peeved' because I made some remarks about the psychological prosperity that was blessing the land. The sedate gentleman, noted for voice, vocabulary and voluptuous verbosity, made one of his characteristic speeches. It was riotous in adjectives, rich in redundancy, magnificent in its inflated pomposity and unmarred by a single thought."

It Was a Rainy Period.

"The streams provided for in this bill cannot become any drier during this weather," remarked Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who was protesting against postponing the trust bills to consider the river and harbor measure. He alluded to the often made jokes about necessity of drilling artesian wells and taking other measures to insure water in streams for which appropriations were made.

Natural History and Trusts.

Senator Lane of Oregon was discussing the trust question and pointed out how the trusts would take care of themselves no matter what legislation was passed. Then he compared them to a band of coyotes. "Did you ever see a band of coyotes competing for a jack rabbit?" he asked. "No; the coyotes have too much sense." Then he told how the coyotes would run a jack rabbit, keeping between him and his burrow, but keeping him going in relays until they got him, and the bunch would then share in the feast. He said the trusts would never compete, but would share in what they were able to take from the people.

Pompeiian Blue.

There is one corridor on the senate side of the capitol where the guides always take sightseers and tell them that it is the only place in the country where real, true Pompeiian blue can be seen. It is a part of the decoration and was painted on the walls more than half a century ago and still retains the same luster and shade.

CARPENTIER WINS ON FOUL

Gunboat Smith Loses Fight in Sixth Round.

London, July 17.—Georges Carpentier, the young French champion and the only pugilist of premier rank France ever contributed to the game, was awarded the decision over Gunboat Smith, the American fighter, on a foul in the sixth round of the fastest heavyweight fight Londoners have seen in many years.

The match was fought at Olympia and was scheduled to go twenty rounds. To Smith and his supporters the finish was a tragedy, because the blow for which the American was disqualified was neither studied nor intentional. It was launched in the heat of the whirlwind fighting, when the Frenchman had slipped to his knees, and the spectators saw the gaunt sailor recoil and attempt to draw back almost as his arm flew out.

DETECTIVE KILLED IN PISTOL BATTLE

Lively Shooting Affair in Chicago Vice District.

Chicago, July 17.—Stanley J. Bierns, a police sergeant in the detective bureau under Captain John Halpin, was shot to death in a revolver battle between two squads of police detectives in the vice district.

Detective John Sloop, Bierns' partner, and Joseph T. Merrill and Fred Amert, detectives under Major L. C. Funkhouser, deputy superintendent in charge of the morals squad, and a fireman named Carroll, were wounded. Sixty shots were fired.

Detectives Schubert and Carney of the Twenty-second street station broke up the riot and took Amert, whose wound was slight, to the station, where he is held.

DOMINICAN REBELS MAKING PROGRESS.

Washington, July 17.—Capture of San Cristobel and Vena, suburbs of Santo Domingo City, by the Dominican revolutionists was reported by Commander Carter of the cruiser Tennessee. The dispatch said foreign residents of the Dominican capital feared an attack on the city.

CONDEMN ELEVATOR LAWS

Grand Forks, N. D., July 17.—Resolutions condemning the grain storage laws of North Dakota on the ground that they compel the elevator manager to become a speculator were passed by members of the North Dakota Association of Elevator Companies.

Officers were elected as follows: President, J. H. S. Thompson, Valley City; vice president A. A. Lane, Sherwood; secretary N. R. Tacklind, Drayton.

A formal resolution declining the proposal of the state railway and warehouse commission for a uniform system of accounting for elevators of the state also was passed.

BRYAN APPROVES EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Secretary of State Will Aid Fight in Nebraska.

DECLARES WOMEN CAPABLE

Commoner Issues Statement Asserting He Would Ask No Political Right for Himself That He Was Not Willing to Grant His Wife—Believes Politics Will Not Suffer by Woman's Entrance.

Washington, July 17.—Secretary Bryan, in a formal statement issued, came out for woman suffrage.

He declared he would ask no political right for himself that he was not willing to grant his wife and announced his intention of supporting the proposed state constitutional amendment extending the franchise to women to be voted upon in Nebraska next November.

Woman, Mr. Bryan said, had proved herself equal to every responsibility imposed upon her and would not fail society in this emergency.

"The objections raised to woman suffrage appear to me to be invalid, while the arguments advanced in support of the proposition are, in my judgment, convincing," said the statement.

"The first objection which I remember to have heard was that as woman cannot bear arms she should not have a voice in deciding questions that might lead to war, or in enacting laws that might require an army for their enforcement. As we look back over the past we may well wonder whether the peace movement would not have grown more rapidly than it has had woman been consulted before hostilities began.

"If one were in doubt as to which side of the controversy to take he would be justified in giving weight to the fact that organization and enthusiasm are on the side of those who favor woman suffrage.

"I am not willing to stay the mother's hand if she thinks that by the use of suffrage she can safeguard the welfare of those who are dearer to her than her own life.

"Politics will not suffer by woman's entrance into it. If the political world has grown more pure in spite of the evil influences that have operated to debase it it will not be polluted by the presence and participation of woman. Neither should we doubt that woman can be trusted with the ballot."

ENGINEERS REJECT OFFER

Refuse to Submit Wage Question to Mediation.

Chicago, July 17.—The representatives of the enginemen of the Western railroads who have voted to strike unless their demands for wage increases are granted refused a request of the general managers' committee that the United States government be asked to mediate.

The enginemen also charged the committee with seeking to prolong the negotiations only to defeat the purpose of the employes. While no more conferences are being held numerous written communications were exchanged by the two committees.

The refusal to submit to mediation was the last letter and put the next move up to the managers.

AID FROM OUTSIDE STATES

North Dakota Suffragists Are Receiving Contributions.

Fargo, N. D., July 17.—North Dakota's campaign for equal suffrage has aroused such nationwide interest that unsolicited contributions toward the cause are being received by the state association from all parts of the country.

Substantial contributions were received from a Minneapolis suffrage club and the College Equal Suffrage league of Northern California.

THREE RUN OVER BY TRAIN

Party Fails to Hear Approaching Passenger.

Genoa, Ill., July 17.—Mrs. I. J. Denton, Miss May Robinson and August Tyler were killed by a St. Paul road passenger train. The accident occurred at the Illinois Central crossing.

The three apparently were walking on the surface tracks watching an Illinois Central train pass overhead when the noise prevented them from hearing the St. Paul train.

WORK OF POST OFFICE CLERKS

NATL ASSOCIATION HAS 26,000

Efficiency is the Keynote of this Administration of Postal Affairs

The guest of honor at the state convention of the Minnesota State Branch of the United National Association of Post Office Clerks in session in Brainerd Friday and Saturday is National President Frank T. Rogers, of Chicago.

In a resume made of his report to the state convention one finds these salient features:

"Splendid progress has been made in every branch of endeavor of the association since the close of the 14th annual convention at Cleveland, Ohio, held in September last. Our editor advises me that the circulation of our official organ 'The Post Office Clerk' has now reached 27,000. Compare this with 23,500, the highest circulation reached last year and we can get some idea of the progress that has been made in organization work. Such figures as are now available to me indicate an increase of about 3,000 in our membership since the last convention; surely a most gratifying showing.

All this means that we now have a national association of more than 26,000 members, with membership extending into more than 2,000 cities scattered all over the country in which there are located first and second class post offices. In the vernacular of the day, these results show that the association is an organization with a 'punch.'

This splendid progress in the very teeth of a vicious campaign of disruption, carried on by short- sighted advocates of our affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, speaks for itself. It must be borne in mind that none of the other great postal organizations representing the three other branches of the service, namely, the City Letter Carriers, the Rural Letter Carriers and the Railway Mail Clerks, are in affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

I, therefore, hope that your state convention will see to it that the people of your state know that you resent this unreasoning war which the American Federation of Labor is making upon your organization, and make it known that you understand that socialism is the underlying motive behind the attack. Let those who believe in socialism expound their beliefs and doctrines outside of the ranks of the organized post office clerks.

I hope your state convention will take steps to see that the members are made acquainted with the advantage of taking insurance in the Mutual Benefit Auxiliary, the insurance branch of our association.

This has been a remarkable year in the development of the postal service. The way that the service met the parcel post problem is a marvel to all whose privilege it has been to have been engaged in the work. No greater tribute could be paid to the efficiency of the postal service than to tell the story of the way it met and conquered the tremendously increased volume of business which suddenly descended upon it when the parcel post system was inaugurated. This is particularly true of the genuine emergency with which the service was confronted during the last holiday period. No one can tell at this time what the extent of the future growth of the parcel post is going to be. I believe that it is as yet only in its infancy.

The Postmaster General and the First Assistant Postmaster General have announced that the keynote of this administration is to be 'efficiency.' They announced that it was to be that kind of efficiency which is to give the people a better postal service.

The department has comitted itself to a plan for the standardization of methods of transacting the postal business. To this end various commissions have been and are still going about the country looking into

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THEY REMEMBER THE SHUT-INS

Hospital Patients are Guests of World at Home Management This Afternoon

EXCELLENT PROGRAM GIVEN

Band and Most of Show Visit St. Joseph's, Northern Pacific and Northwestern Hospitals

Brainerd's hospital patients were guests of the World at Home management this afternoon and convalescents at the St. Joseph, Northern Pacific and Northwestern hospitals were treated to an excellent program. As it was impossible for those under the nurses' care to go to the show grounds James T. Clyde, manager of the World at Home, conceived the idea of taking as much of the show grounds to the various hospitals as possible. When the proposition was put up to the managers of the various shows each was delighted, the only difficulty was selecting a program that would be practical. This, when completed included the band, California Frank's high school horses and Wild West ropers. Omar Sami, the East Indian, who by the way is a direct descendant of the Mahatmas of India and claims direct lineage with the wise men of that country who practiced their peculiar arts long before the dawn of the Christian era, gave an excellent exhibition of many feats of Indian magic and illusion. Sami's dog circus also took part in the program and the wonderful performance of the canines was greatly appreciated.

The magnificent Arabian horses owned by California Frank, did their most wonderful tricks for the patients There was all kinds of dancing, tango, two step, quadrille, waltz and as a grand finale did a clog dance keeping exact time with the music of the band, and the ropers put on their most difficult "stunts."

Prof. Victor Eslick's superb band was a source of great delight to the patients. Always of the highest class the boys seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion and gave a most excellent musical program ranging from the classical to the more popular tunes of the day.

Promptly at 1:30 the little parade started from the show grounds and marched to the St. Joseph hospital where the first program was given at 2 o'clock on the lawn. The Northern Pacific hospital was next visited and then the Northwestern, where the program was repeated.

Just who was the most pleased with the unusual entertainment, the patients or the show people, would be a hard matter for an onlooker to decide. The performers entered into the work with a vim and seemed delighted to have an opportunity of "getting an appearance," while needless to say the patients warmly welcomed a diversion of that class.

It is believed to be the first time in the history of Brainerd that such a courtesy was shown the hospital patients and the "shut-ins" will always treasure the memory of the pleasant visit of the World at Home people.

MISS HANNAH SATHER WINS

Is Carnival Queen in the Popularity Contest at the World at Home Exposition

There was surely a surprised individual who it may be said had a double birthday yesterday, Miss Hannah Sather who won the diamond ring and will be crowned Queen of the Carnival in front of the Garden of Allah show.

Miss Sather won by a good margin, her total vote being 2617 cash votes, the next highest number of votes being accredited to Miss Leona DeRocher who had 1516 votes with cash and handicap. Miss Florence Warner was third with 1446. It may be added that the committee has the votes laid away so that any of the doubtful persons can count for themselves if they care to do so.

Tonight, in honor of Miss Sather, a dance will be given on the street at 6th and Main streets immediately following the free act of the diving horse. There will also be a jubilee parade at about 9 p. m. on the Midway

Miss Sather when interviewed this morning said, "When I entered the contest it was in the spirit of a joke, Mr. Linnemann remarking at first that because I worked for him it would be better if I would not enter the race. However the votes started to come in for me in a small way, then larger, so I became interested, and went out to win securing the assistance of my friends who work with my father in the shops. Yesterday being my birthday my friends worked hard, so as to bestow the honor of Queen upon me as a gift of the day. I wish to thank all who were interested in my election and extend my regards to all."

The Queen will be crowned at about 7:30 tonight. Your presence is requested.

Indian of Today is Fast Adopting Mannerisms of His White Brother

The Indian of today is fast adopting the mannerisms of his white brother. This was well exemplified the other day when an Indian and his "squaw", both of who are connected with California Frank's Wild West and Indian Congress, one of the big feature shows with the World at Home, now showing in Brainerd were dining at a local cafe.

The Indian and his wife were seated at a table in the corner of the dining room quietly partaking of the good things provided when a party of young men entered. One of the party soon discovered the couple and called the attention of the others to them. The crowd turned and with open mouths and staring eyes watched the Indians, while their own meal waited and grew cold. Evidently the thought that an Indian could eat at a table especially in a first class cafe was entirely foreign to the young men.

Out of the corner of his right eye the old warrior was watching the watchers and an amused smile played over his rough visage. One of the young men began tucking a generous napkin under his chin and the old Indian unable longer to restrain his mirth laughed loud at the display of bad table manners, and the boys, quickly scenting that they were the objects of the Indian's mirth, turned to their meals.

"Looks like the old warrior and his squaw have more manners than we have," vouched one of the party, but the others were too busy to reply.

WORK OF POST OFFICE CLERKS

NATL ASSOCIATION HAS 26,000

Efficiency is the Keynote of this Administration of Postal Affairs

The guest of honor at the state convention of the Minnesota State Branch of the United National Association of Post Office Clerks in session in Brainerd Friday and Saturday is National President Frank T. Rogers, of Chicago.

In a resume made of his report to the state convention one finds these salient features:

"Splendid progress has been made in every branch of endeavor of the association since the close of the 14th annual convention at Cleveland, Ohio, held in September last. Our editor advises me that the circulation of our official organ 'The Post Office Clerk' has now reached 27,000. Compare this with 23,500, the highest circulation reached last year and we can get some idea of the progress that has been made in organization work. Such figures as are now available to me indicate an increase of about 3,000 in our membership since the last convention; surely a most gratifying showing.

All this means that we now have a national association of more than 26,000 members, with membership extending into more than 2,000 cities scattered all over the country in which there are located first and second class post offices. In the vernacular of the day, these results show that the association is an organization with a 'punch.'

This splendid progress in the very teeth of a vicious campaign of disruption, carried on by short- sighted advocates of our affiliation with the American Federation of Labor, speaks for itself. It must be borne in mind that none of the other great postal organizations representing the three other branches of the service, namely, the City Letter Carriers, the Rural Letter Carriers and the Railway Mail Clerks, are in affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

I, therefore, hope that your state convention will see to it that the people of your state know that you resent this unreasoning war which the American Federation of Labor is making upon your organization, and make it known that you understand that socialism is the underlying motive behind the attack. Let those who believe in socialism expound their beliefs and doctrines outside of the ranks of the organized post office clerks.

I hope your state convention will take steps to see that the members are made acquainted with the advantage of taking insurance in the Mutual Benefit Auxiliary, the insurance branch of our association.

This has been a remarkable year in the development of the postal service. The way that the service met the parcel post problem is a marvel to all whose privilege it has been to have been engaged in the work. No greater tribute could be paid to the efficiency of the postal service than to tell the story of the way it met and conquered the tremendously increased volume of business which suddenly descended upon it when the parcel post system was inaugurated. This is particularly true of the genuine emergency with which the service was confronted during the last holiday period. No one can tell at this time what the extent of the future growth of the parcel post is going to be. I believe that it is as yet only in its infancy.

The Postmaster General and the First Assistant Postmaster General have announced that the keynote of this administration is to be 'efficiency.' They announced that it was to be that kind of efficiency which is to give the people a better postal service.

The department has comitted itself to a plan for the standardization of methods of transacting the postal business. To this end various commissions have been and are still going about the country looking into

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Hospital Patients are Guests of World at Home Management This Afternoon

Band and Most of Show Visit St. Joseph's, Northern Pacific and Northwestern Hospitals

Brainerd's hospital patients were guests of the World at Home management this afternoon and convalescents at the St. Joseph, Northern Pacific and Northwestern hospitals were treated to an excellent program. As it was impossible for those under the nurses' care to go to the show grounds James T. Clyde, manager of the World at Home, conceived the idea of taking as much of the show grounds to the various hospitals as possible. When the proposition was put up to the managers of the various shows each was delighted, the only difficulty was selecting a program that would be practical. This, when completed included the band, California Frank's high school horses and Wild West ropers. Omar Sami, the East Indian, who by the way is a direct descendant of the Mahatmas of India and claims direct lineage with the wise men of that country who practiced their peculiar arts long before the dawn of the Christian era, gave an excellent exhibition of many feats of Indian magic and illusion. Sami's dog circus also took part in the program and the wonderful performance of the canines was greatly appreciated.

The magnificent Arabian horses owned by California Frank, did their most wonderful tricks for the patients There was all kinds of dancing, tango, two step, quadrille, waltz and as a grand finale did a clog dance keeping exact time with the music of the band, and the ropers put on their most difficult "stunts."

Prof. Victor Eslick's superb band was a source of great delight to the patients. Always of the highest class the boys seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion and gave a most excellent musical program ranging from the classical to the more popular tunes of the day.

Promptly at 1:30 the little parade started from the show grounds and marched to the St. Joseph hospital where the first program was given at 2 o'clock on the lawn. The Northern Pacific hospital was next visited and then the Northwestern, where the program was repeated.

Just who was the most pleased with the unusual entertainment, the patients or the show people, would be a hard matter for an onlooker to decide. The performers entered into the work with a vim and seemed delighted to have an opportunity of "getting an appearance," while needless to say the patients warmly welcomed a diversion of that class.

It is believed to be the first time in the history of Brainerd that such a courtesy was shown the hospital patients and the "shut-ins" will always treasure the memory of the pleasant visit of the World at Home people.

WHEN you find youngsters eager for the evening bath, the morning bath or any-time-of-day bath, you may be sure that the soap which they use is Ivory.

Instead of cleansing with the help of irritating alkali and harsh grit, Ivory relies upon purity, mildness and quality to do its work. Instead of leaving the skin red and rough, its use is followed by a natural softness and smoothness entirely free from the ordinary soapy feeling.

and comparing methods now in vogue in different postoffices. The purpose will be to learn the best way of handling the postal business, and then to have the method universally adopted.

The last session of congress enacted two pieces of new legislation for the benefit of the employees of our branch of the service. First in importance is the Reilly Compensation law. The other piece of new legislation is what has come to be known as the Weeks Senate Amendment, increasing to 35c an hour the rate of pay for substitutes for employees absent from duty with pay and for auxiliary and temporary clerks.

The total appropriation for the postal service for the year commencing July 1st, 1914, is $311,752,167, which amount is an increase of $28,307,996 over the amount carried in the appropriation bill of last year.

The Reilly 8-in-10 hour law went into effect on March 4, 1913. That it has operated successfully and in the interest of the efficiency of the service is the opinion of a host of competent judges.

In view of the fact that, prior to the enactment of the Reilly 8-in-10 hour law, the postoffice clerks had never been protected in any way by any legislation regulating their hours of labor, it was only natural to expect that there would be many obstacles to overcome in putting this new law into operation. Most of these obstacles had their origin in the prejudices of certain postmasters who had been so long accustomed to the old order of things that they did not seem capable of making a proper executive effort to re-adjust the affairs of their office to the new conditions. The 8-in-10 hour law met its most severe test during the Christmas holidays. Any law that could stand up under that test should be accepted as all right. I firmly believe that were it not for the fact that the 8-in-10 hour law was in operation during the last holiday period, the service would not have met the emergency caused by the great volume of parcel post matter. Without the operation of this law, the conditions of employment for the clerks at the last holiday period would have been nothing short of a terrible nightmare. Extraordinary hours without compensation would have been the rule.

Another source of congratulation is to be found in the fact that the organized effort to bring about the repeal or amendment of the Mann Sunday Closing law has not been successful. Fortunately, in the great majority of postoffices throughout the country Sunday work has now been reduced to a minimum. Only mail for transients is being attended to and, of course, outgoing mails are being despatched. In these communities we find a satisfied public. We find more people enjoying the day of rest. We find these people willing to testify that the closing of the postoffice on Sunday was the best thing for themselves.

The provisions of the Taylor-Martine bill, providing for the successive promotion of clerks and carriers in first class offices up to $1,500 and clerks and carriers in second class offices up to $1,400, represents the paramount issue of our association, as voted for by the Boston and Cleveland conventions.

Our Cleveland convention unanimously endorsed the Hamill Straight Pension Civil Service Retirement bill and instructed the national officers to do everything in their power to forward the passage of this bill.

You are all familiar with the persistent effort put forth by the present Congress to eliminate assistant postmasters from the protection of the classifield civil service. You all know that so far efforts to accomplish this purpose have not met with success.

It is tremendously gratifying to know that the President of the United States and the Postmaster General have set their faces very hard against this proposed legislation. Their action should give heart to those who are commencing to fear that there would be wholesale raids on classified positions in the postal service.

Our Cleveland convention gave a very enthusiastic endorsement to the McGillicuddy Compensation bill. It embraces a new idea in compensation legislation. It provides that disability resulting from so-called 'occupational diseases' shall be treated exactly as disability resulting from injury and accident. This part of the bill will be vigorously contested.

For a number of years our association has endeavored to induce the department to issue an order to all postmasters to give clerks compensatory time off duty for all labor performed on recognized legal holidays. The department still declines to issue a general order on the subject. The position of the department is that permission will be granted to any postmasters who will request the department to authorize him to grant his clerks time off on a working day for necessary work performed on a holiday.

Remember that only results count in the test of the efficiency of organization, and our association has met that test. Every bit of beneficial legislation affecting the clerks is the result of the work of our association. We are a responsible body and therefore a conservative body. We will introduce no impossible bills solely to deceive the clerks. We will consistently work along constructive lines as laid down by our annual conventions with quiet persistency and systematic effort. That is the way we have won in the past and that is the way we will win in the future.

WHEN you find youngsters eager for the evening bath, the morning bath or any-time-of-day bath, you may be sure that the soap which they use is Ivory.

Instead of cleansing with the help of irritating alkali and harsh grit, Ivory relies upon purity, mildness and quality to do its work. Instead of leaving the skin red and rough, its use is followed by a natural softness and smoothness entirely free from the ordinary soapy feeling.
